In June of 1993, Heidi Fleiss, age 27, was arrested, accused of running a high-priced call girl service catering to L.A.'s rich and famous. In April of 1993, Goldie DeWitt, age 21, was arrested, accused of shop lifting. Fuck that, I knew I had to get my shit together or I would end up a criminal for life. When your a natural born Hustler you see no end. When the steaks are high, your adrenaline pumps harder and you want more! So, as you can guess, my crime spree didn't stop there. The taste of fast money, taking a risk, barley getting away was my daily duties. BAM, it happened again! Busted, sittin' there with my head hung low with some fucking hand cuffs on; saying to myself "shit I should have stayed in the house today." I couldn't stop I was a soldier to the Hustler life and no body couldn't tell me shit. It was a grimy feeling sittin in jail. I remember this dude walking up to me and saying "you don't look like you belong in here." He was right. I jumped out of bed and made my phone call, posted bail, and I got the fuck up out of there. I knew it, that was truly my last run. I tried getting a job, but the shit just wasn't my calling. Fuck a alarm clock, fuck a time card, fuck a boss. I'm a Boss by Blood and I can't have anyone riding me. So, I had to figure something out on how I can make a legit living with applying myself to stuff I liked. Computers, Photography, Girls, & Freedom of expression. In 1995 my homie Mr. Marcus called me to see if I wanted to go to the Porno Awards in Las Vegas with him because he was nominated. Duh, fuck yea let's bounce! When I got to Vegas, I immediately saw my future and how I was gonna make a new legit living when I got home.

Here I stand today, close to 10 years later. A legit business man, drama free, secure, happy, ballin' outta control! So, did I change? Nope. It's called "getting your shit together." Like Jay Z said "I'm a Hustler Baby!"

So, if I did it, you can to. I'm in this fo-life! Where you at? Holla at cha boy- Goldie
