Hello 1DOWN reader,

Thank you for taking the time to reach out and grab my magazine and give it a try. It's people like you who encourage me and give me the drive to keep doing my thang.

By the time you read this, a few things will have passed; such as my first 1DOWN Strip Club Awards 2004. This is the first of it's kind honoring the best strip clubs and entertainers in Southern California. I wanted to bring something to the strip club industry to show my appreciation to the clubs and the dancers. There's a lot of hard work in the daily operation of a Strip Club and now it's time to honor those who gave it their best. See photos & award winners on 1down.com.

I'm very excited about this issue. This is my 12th issue and I've doubled the pages in the magazine. What does that mean? It means I'm doing something right. Mark my word, save this page, "I'm gonna be famous 1 day!"

This year flew by so fucking fast! Things in this world are just getting out of control. How in the fuck are we almost paying three dollars a gallon for gas, and who in the fuck started this new clothing trend where females over 200 pounds are walking around with tight jeans on, a little tight shirt with their gut hanging out? I blows me away every time I see it. Now don't get me wrong, I love a confident person, but sometimes you need to be a true friend and say something. Another thing that just made all my hair fall out was this high school chick walking home with her friends. She had on tight jeans, a tight tank top, her left arm was sleeved with tattoos and I swear she had breast implants! Oh yea, and she did have a back pack:-) I know I have tattoos but I didn't get it until I was 18 as my mom requested. These parents need to have more involvement & communication with their kids now days. I know it's tough, but don't give up.

Let's all take part in making this world a better place and the first person you can start with is yourself.

"Just telling you like I see it."
